

Sharing Learning at Home

Research shows that when practitioners and parents work together the results have a positive impact on the child's learning and development.

After all, the parent/carer knows more about their own child than anyone else.

The Statutory Framework for the Early Years Foundation Stage states that providers must work with parents and carers on sharing learning at home. (Information for Parents and Carers 3.72)

TASK:

Draw up a mind map of ideas for suitable activities that could go home with children and shared with parents.

Example: Talking boxes are boxes or bags which contain items which are linked to the child's interests, for instance, a set of farm animals with a farm book. They help to develop vocabulary and can be sent home for parents to use with their child.

Ideas for using the items could be put inside the boxes for parents to refer to.
